

Nixon commission asks 'ceasefire'

President Nixon's Commission on Campus Unrest has pleaded for a "national cease-fire" between students, police and politicians and urged each to lead the way.

That it termed the most important of a long list of recommendations to stop violence and on the commission said:

...the President has the platform and the authority to urge all Americans, at once, to step out of the battlelines into which they are drawn.

The commission denounced violence and said that anyone who uses violence be punished as criminals, but said dissent against the agreement short of violence absolutely had not been rejected.

William Scranton of Pennsylvania, the commission chairman, presented the 359 typewritten-page report to the President just 15 weeks after Nixon called for recommendations to avoid campus disturbances.

Scranton said he did not think the president or his administration shared the commission's deep belief in the need for urgent action to repair these divisions, which he said are "far more compelling and are growing far faster than most Americans realize."

The commission blamed the Indochina War, racism and the colleges themselves for campus disorders.

"Nothing is more important than an end to the war in Indochina. Disaffected students see the war as a symbol of moral crisis in the nation which, in their eyes, deprives even law of its legitimacy..."

The 10-member panel made clear it had no sympathy for "a small minority of politically extreme students and faculty members and a small group of dedicated agitators (who) are bent on destruction of the university through violence in order to gain their own political ends."

"Perpetrators of violence must be identified, removed from the university as swiftly as possible and prosecuted vigorously by the appropriate agencies of law enforcement," it said.

The commission also proposed that the government should offer "greatly increased financial aid for black colleges and universities" and formerly all-white schools should step up minority student recruitment.

The report called for universities to reform their operations, from course requirements to rule-making, but nothing should be done to hamper free speech and the exchange of ideas on campus.

Time of testing- Elder Lee Warns

"This is the time of testing the like of which the Church has never gone through, and you have the responsibility to plant your feet firmly... in the testimony of the Lord Jesus Christ," challenged Elder Harold B. Lee of the First Presidency last night to over 13,600 people.

The First Counselor to the President of

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints told the students, townspeople and Church leaders who packed the Smith Fieldhouse and de Jong Concert Hall, that a testimony is when "we understand more than our minds... when we understand with our hearts... when we see, hear, and understand what we ought to see, hear and understand."

Devotional

Paul Dunn

Elder Paul H. Dunn of the First Council of the Seventy will be the speaker in Tuesday's devotional tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Fieldhouse.

Elder Dunn, a career church educator and author, was named a member of the First Council of the Seventy April 6, 1964. He previously served as coordinator of LDS Institutes of Religion in Southern California for two years.

Elder Lee challenged that, "We dip into the homes to teach more perfectly our children," to avoid corruption creeping into the schools in the form of drugs and immorality.

With the spreading of the Gospel to many lands (Elder Lee mentioned that 350 persons were recently baptized in a Mexican Mission in one month) disclosed that we must "Train leaders better." He said that a new program, being carried out through the regional representatives of The Church, is teaching all ward bishops throughout the world, "So they will be taught how to lead."

Miners clip clawless Cougars

By WALLY RUGG

...a completely punchless offense... to play drop-the-ball Saturday... the Texas-El Paso Miners handed the Cougars their second straight loss, a rout.

...the first time since 1964, when... moved into Cougar Stadium, that the... had been held scoreless. It was also... the second time in Coach Tommy... in his BYU career that his charges... in whitewashed.

...last time the Miners shutout... was in 1967 when they stopped... rado State Rams 17-0.

...Saturday night's whitewash wasn't... UTEP's doing as it was BYU's

...is certainly not known as a strong... squad, having given up 68 points... previous contests. Holding the Cougars scoreless wasn't by any means the toughest defensive assignment the Miners will have this season.

About the biggest offensive charge of the night for BYU was made by Cougar mascot Cosmo as he charged through a wire fence on the east side of the football field while riding his motorbike.

Otherwise, BYU's offensive unit turned the ball over six times and was bogged down all night long. The Cougars totaled 141 yards, with nearly all that yardage coming on the only two sustained drives the Cats had in the ball game.

It was only seven minutes into the game before the Cougar offense made it convenient for the Miners to break into the scoring column. A fumbled handoff from Rick Jones to Chris Reading gave UTEP the pigskin at the BYU seven where the Miners quickly moved in for a touchdown on a five-yard run by sophomore halfback Paul Adamian.

The Church and BYU

LDS students on other campuses

By ERICK MYERS
Universe Religion Writer

Campus life at BYU would not be the same without the student wards and the activities they provide. And for Latter-day Saint students at other institutions of higher learning throughout the world, life would not be the same without the Latter-day Saint Student Association (LDSSA).

Dedicated to providing a framework for spiritual, social and intellectual growth during the college years, LDSSA influences about 100,000 students on approximately 500 college and university campuses throughout the world. Established under the direction of the First Presidency of The Church, LDSSA is organized to meet the needs of college students while they are at school, serving as an arm of the Priesthood and reaching out to encompass all Latter-day Saint students on the campus. It accomplishes its work primarily through correlation and coordination of the weekday activities of the agencies of The Church that affect the students while on campus.

LDSSA IS DESIGNED to utilize and strengthen stakes, wards, institutes of religion, social, fraternal and other groups by involving a student council comprised of student leaders and representatives of various Church groups on campus.

Basic principles which guide the operation of LDSSA include involvement of the Priesthood at every level of operation, the consideration of student voice in the decision-making process, and correlation which includes the coordination of Church and campus activities.

A MULTITUDE OF problems faces college students today, and LDS students must face them as well. The knowledge explosion era, loss of identity, the mobility of society, student unrest and social pressures and problems confront all students. Additionally, LDS students must cope with other problems. Social life on campuses around the country as a rule is not in harmony with Church standards. Dating opportunities for LDS college students are limited. Returned servicemen, returned missionaries, young married couples, new college students, etc., face special problems which must be solved. In short, there is a danger of Latter-day Saint college students becoming religious dropouts.

LDSSA helps LDS college students meet the challenges they face in a variety of ways. First, the needs and wishes of LDS students are determined and ways to meet them effectively and properly are decided upon. The functioning body of the Student Association is the LDS Student Council. Direct action can then be taken to meet the needs of the students through the established organizations which are represented on both student council and executive committee levels. If the organizations cannot currently meet the needs effectively, the Student Association may combine its resources with the organizations to provide answers.

MANY OF TODAY'S college students find a need to develop strong personal identity and recognition in a group setting. A significant number of Latter-day Saint college students experience and express these same concerns.

There are many who have a strong desire to develop personal and group identity on the campus through participation in a fraternal organization. In an attempt to satisfy these needs, two fraternities, Delta Phi Kappa and Sigma Gamma Chi, and one sorority, Lambda Delta Sigma, have been organized.

All of these organizations provide a wide variety of social, cultural, scholastic, service and spiritual experiences. Participants are given meaningful opportunities for character and leadership development as well as personal, campus and Church identity.

DELTA PHI KAPPA is a social fraternity which provides an opportunity for returned male missionaries to mingle socially, academically and spiritually under the influence of a brotherhood mutually committed to the ideals of the Gospel.

Sigma Gamma Chi is a product of the 1967 reorganization of Lambda Delta Sigma, which was originally organized in 1936. This fraternity, designed for all college men, is established on concepts developed from the Apostle Paul's challenge to the Ephesians when he said, "Put on the whole armor of God." The name Sigma Chi reflects the motto of the organization: Service to God and Country.

LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA is now a women's organization specifically designed to help young women in achieving their ultimate in womanhood through developing concepts and practices of spirituality, sisterhood, scholarship, service and supporting role of womanhood. The focus is to qualify each member an "elect lady" as spoken by Apostle John in his second epistle.

All three of the organizations fall under the operations of LDSSA.

A General Authority has assigned as a managing director the LDSSA and has the spiritual responsibility of assisting Latter-day Saint college students to become more academically proficient, more spiritually and more socially competent. The establishment of the Latter-day Saint Student Association brings the resources of The Church into program under the Priesthood help each Latter-day Saint student.

President reviews traditions

The traditions at BYU... and other thoughts:
We all attend Devotional and Assemblies whether we have registered for them or not.
We attend Church on Sunday while at BYU.
We are tolerant of the religious beliefs of others.
We observe the Golden Rule.

This is a student body of brotherly love and unity, not a student body of contention and violent dissent. We come here to learn and not to riot.

You don't need an introduction to speak to other students or members of the faculty.
We practice what we profess to be... Christians.
We do not walk on the lawns.

We take the center seats in a classroom or auditorium.
We do not leave a meeting just before the end of the meeting.

We do not agree with militant students on other campuses who seem to think that the end of society is peace. The end of society, even at the cost of war, is freedom and liberty.

We mind this year to be exceedingly severe with respect to any student who possesses, uses, or dispenses any drugs, either on or off the campus.

UTEP clips weak Cougars

If White kicked a 41-yard goal late in the third quarter UTEP's only other score.

Following Craig's touchdown BYU took over on its own yard line after a 25 yard kickoff return by Chrisopoulos and moved all the way to the UTEP two-yard line, where they had a first and goal.

Game statistics

	UTEP	BYU
Touchdowns	16	15
Rushing	155	67
Passing	165	74
Yards	9-20-1	8-25-1
Average	4-35	7-32
Fumbles lost	2	5
Fumbles recovered	6-80	6-29

The impotent Cougars were down for losses back to the where QB Rick Jones was held for a big loss on a fourth down faked field goal attempt.

U's only other drive came in losing minutes of the game the Cougar defense had held the Miners short of a touchdown on the BYU inch line.

Cats marched 76 yards to a 23-yard line, big plays a pitchout to tailback Kip Jackson for 22 yards, and a draw to Nichols for 16.

With a first down at the UTEP line, the Miners proceeded to lose 15 yards back to the 38-yard line where the Miners took over with remaining in the game.

The Cougar defense twice came with tremendous performances to keep the Cats in the ball game. Twice UTEP had a first down inside the Cougar three and twice the Miners were refused entrance into the BYU end zone.

But defense alone doesn't win too many ball games, and the Cougar defense certainly stood alone Saturday night as the offense continued its season trend of handing away the football to the opposition. Five times the Cats fumbled away the pigskin. UTEP intercepted one Dave Coon pass.

The futility of the BYU offense can be illustrated by one particular play. Late in the third quarter Kip Jackson broke loose for the Cats' longest play of the game, a 29-yard scamper and fumbled the football away to the Miners.

UTEP's Craig, leading passer in the WAC, completed 9 of 19 passes for 165 yards and one touchdown. Number one WAC receiver Ed Puihes showed flashes of brilliance in snaring five aerials for 72 yards.
